

The Knox-Gingrich Endowed Dairy Production Medicine Scholarship

This scholarship was founded by Dr. John Knox, a mixed animal veterinarian from Shelby, Ohio and owner of Kirkview Veterinary Services and Dr. K. Fred Gingrich II, a mixed animal veterinarian from Ashland, Ohio and owner of Country Roads Veterinary Services and Ashland Veterinary Clinic.

The scholarship was founded to help support the education of a senior student of The Ohio State University College of Veterinary Medicine interested in and demonstrating proficiency dairy production medicine. The award is an endowed award and therefore will be available each year. Typically the scholarship is a $1000 award depending on the performance of the endowment fund.

Applications can be made through the college.